

Tuesday Night

Kristin Hersh

When you sleep you tell me off
I told you once before
I can't resist you
When You sleep I build you up
I make you king of here
I can't resist you
I can't wait
I'll suck down another water while I wait
I watch the clock glow blue
And think of you
I can't wait

The moon shines through my dress
And through my glass
I promise not to drink until you're home
I can't wait

The moon pales even when it thinks it holds the face of the clock
I watch for you while I wait
I can't wait