judgment comes with no escape we lay them down this hellish day lose all after time you thats always been embrace your existence name is now nothing to see is not to believe you exist closer to becoming more than myself

self dead

who am i ?
and what is this embrace the lie could this be it ?

lose all after time you thats always been embrace your existence name is now nothing

to see is not to believe you exist closer to becoming more than myself

self dead
we die to self we start to live living life than our self