

Your Touch

Kutless

Staring at a blank wall and all its white washed face
Not knowing why I had to choose this way
I discern I was wrong in my way
Looking for peace in another, another domain

And I realize that its true I seek you, yes I seek you
And I realize that its true I need you, yes I need you

And I reach and I touch you and I know that I need you
To reach out and to touch me and I know
I know that I need your touch

Not knowing why I ever retreated from your arms
A mistake I made
Now oh Lord I feel your warm embrace, contentment fills my soul as joy lights my face.

And I realize that its true I seek you, yes I seek you
And I realize that its true I need you, yes I need you

And I reach and I touch you and I know that I need you
To reach out and to touch me and I know
I know that I need your touch

You Look into the sky and see His arms of love reaching out for you
His arms of love and grace
And you know you need him, you need his touch

I need your, I need your.....

I was lost but now I'm found

And I reach and I touch you and I know that I need you
To reach out and to touch me and I know
I know that I need your to
