catch a fire
on your fingertips lonely is a place but I don't go there anymore

my desire
I hear from your lips wont you say again the words my heart has waited for when I feel the summer in your smile I could take the world on anytime everyday you make me glow in the way you let me know all the feelings you cant hide sunshine on the inside

see the mirror
I don't know myself who's the girl who's staring back at me she looks so strong you get closer there's nobody else who can make me sure I'm doing right not doing wrong

when i feel the summer in your smile I could take the world on I could take the world on anytime everyday you make me glow in the way u let me know all the feelings you cant hide sunshine on the inside
