

The Missing Peace

L.A. Guns

In younger days, would've ripped me apart
All these breaks have built these scars on my heart
I know what to say 'cause we've been down this hole
Just watch the castles as they crumble and fall
As they crumble and fall

While you stand
Gonna break

I want men with a powerful stone
I'm made of flesh, but I'm covered in bone
I know what I say 'cause I've seen the world fall
Watch all your colors turn to black

Another time maybe all I can hope
I won't touch your rock just 'cause it's covered in gold
And you know what I say 'cause you've been down this hole
I watch the seas as they crumble and fall
As they crumble and fall

While you stand
Gonna break

I won't break with a powerful stone
I'm only flesh but I'm covered in bone
I know what I say 'cause I've seen the world fall
Watch all your colors turn-

I won't break with a powerful stone
I'm made of flesh but I'm covered in bone
I know what I say 'cause I've seen it all fall
Watch all your colors turn to black

I'd kill for the bitter taste
Still locked to the bitter ways
Still waiting for a better way of love
Hands in[?] to the bid of time
It's all lost to a bit of fun
It's all [?] to a better peace of mind

I won't break with a powerful stone
I'm made of flesh but I'm covered in bone
I know what I say 'cause I've seen the world fall
Watch all your colors turn to black

I won't break with a powerful stone
I'm made of flesh but I'm covered in bone
I know what I say 'cause I've seen it all fall
Watch all your colors turn, watch all your colors to black
