

Forest

Lakeside X

Forgive me everything I've done
Forgive me everything, I'm alone
Try to forget, throw away the key
Love is my relief

And leave me in the forest
Let me find the way

You gave me everything you had
Gave me any place you belonged
With all the things you believed
I could have never thought it was wrong

Leave me in the forest
I'll never see the light
Through the trees and all the leaves
I'll never find the path

See you on the other side in the sunrise
See you on the other side in the light

For my world, my lust
My God, my trust
My wings, my dreams
With my love
It all have disappeared

Forgive me everything, my love
Forgive me everything, my love
I know that I was very wrong
Just leave me there where I belong

Just leave me in my forest
Leave me in the dark
That's the place where all of my kind
Learn to find the life

See you on the other side in the sunrise
See you on the other side in the light

Am I always walking through this door?
Am I just deciding always wrong?
Is it just decision or is it fate?
Or there's hope it can be different way?

See you on the other side in the sunrise
See you on the other side in the light
