

Guardian Angel

Lana Lane

Tell me a story of stars in the sky
A vision to cover my eyes
Change all the players as seasons go by
Then close up the book with a last kiss goodnight

And now we're walking where no others will go
We still believe in all the promises broken
The lights go down and now it's on with the show
The life we live is not our own

Your guardian angel flies
From white cliffs of Dover
A tear from the dragon's eye
Your last four leaf clover

I see a rainbow of flowers and stars
They shine on the sun and the moon
Colors will sing as petals fall from the sky
Their song is forever a sad lullaby

And now we're walking where no others will go
We're holding onto all the dreams ever broken
The lights go down and now it's on with the show
The life we live is not our own

Your guardian angel flies
