

Project Shangri-La

Lana Lane

Ridinng the wave of an eastern wind
Searching for paradise
Dreaming of love at the rainbows end
With roses on emerald vines
Where violet rivers flow for miles
And mellow yellow suns kiss the sky

As you get closer an angel sings
Dressed in million stars
Wind blowing soft as a bluebird's wing
You know that it can't be far

Gazing throught the neon gates
And passage way of gold
The doorway reads...

Project Shangri-la is just beyond this door
Watch for falling stars and rainbows
Time will stop for just awhile
As you taste forever more
Leave behind your world of sorrows

You're kneeling in front of the magic door
Hoping to be let in
"No place like home" written on the floor
Then a flash as the show begins

And just before you turn and run
A jester smiles and takes you by the hand

To Project Shangri-la just beyond this door
Watch for falling stars and rainbows
Time will stop for just awhile
As you taste forever more
Leave behind your world of sorrows

As moonlight falls upon your face
It leaves a trace of stardust tears
That disappear by light of day

Walking throught the neon gates
On pathways made of gold
Now you believe...

In Project Shangri-la
Just beyond this door
Watch for falling stars and rainbows
Time will stop for just awhile
As you taste forever more
Leave behind your world of sorrows

Here in Project Shangri-la
Dreams are what's in store
Watch for falling stars and rainbows
Time will stop for just awhile
As you taste forever more
Leave behind your world of sorrows