

The Day That A Child Appeared

Larry Norman

I was thinking just last Sunday
That the world confuses one day
With the rest throughout the year,
And that one day is the day that a child appeared.

Just a baby in a manger
But the room was filled with strangers
And the star hung in the sky
Oh like an angel on the day that a child appeared.

Little children, please remember
Why we celebrate December
It's much more than Santa Claus.
But you're right about the gift and tree,
A gift of life at Calvary.

I was thinking just last Sunday
How the world confuses one day
With the rest throughout the year,
And that day is the day that a child appeared.
