

Doom! Doom! Doom!

Latterman

We'll rest our heads on strong shoulders again.
To form new mindsets to bring us through.
Yeah, give up, regain. And move again,
So we'll still sustain and build until the end.

With our hearts synced to tempos
We set for each other
We all still strive and fail. Build and fall.
But these are connections the miles can never break.

We all struggle to find our place
And we all will remain.
Year after year.
As we take what we have gained to our new place.

Set back our setbacks for one more fucking day.
Pick up the pieces and remember that we'll always struggle.
And hold on
To the moments that hold meaning.

When no matter where we go,
All these city's ghosts will follow us
On and on.