For Someone So Easy Going, You Sure Do Wear Pants A Lot

Latterman

Stumbling on the words again. Trying to make it all sound positive. But 40 miles heading south with the radio Preaching to me i shouldn't be happy with me. Well fuck you is all i have to say Because self-doubt can still hurt me today. I'll live my life my fucking way.

With self-doubt in my heart in my way. While my culture says i'm not ok. I've spent too many days With a smile on my face To have not found an amazing place. Long island diy. And despite our faults We can build something amazing. If we believe in ourselves.

And a good friend has said to me He may still wish he's 15. I told him to create his own circumstances. Yet i truly understand We can't always make our lives Seem happy all the time. Just remember the strength is always there.

Sometimes it's not all easy. So let's take a step back. Question everything And tell ourselves we'll make this ok.