

Still Life

Laura Welsh

The love, the love
The love, the love
The love, the love
The love
Time is all-forgiven
Tell me how it ends
Cause no one knows me quite like you do

And these conversations in my head
Turn into the words that you never said
Oh no, oh no, oh no
I hold it inside not to fall apart
How many ways can we restart?

And this weird life living
Is pulling me away
Constant craving
Is more than I can take
And maybe I don't want this
No, I would give it up for
Love
So just wait, follow me back
Know at times I can get sidetrack
All this space just leads me back to you

And these conversations in my head
Turn into the words that you never said
Oh no, oh no, oh no
I hold it inside not to fall apart
How many ways can we restart?

And this weird life living
Is pulling me away
Constant craving
Is more than I can take
And maybe I don't want this
No, I would give it up for
Love
Let's not leave it to chance
We can't blame circumstance
Cause in this life there's no certainty
And it's all one result
Who knows where this will go
It's more than we can understand

And this weird life living
Is pulling me away
Constant craving
Is more than I can take
And maybe I don't want this
No, I would give it up for
Love