

Who I Really Am

Lazarus A.D.

Get on your knees and pray
You're crumbling away
What would you say
If I said you'll die today
The evil in my vein
It causes so much pain
But if you took my life
What would I gain
My mind is so confused
Twisted and abused
What have you got
What can you lose
I'll keep you safe and sound
Your ankles and wrists bound
Buried deep six feet underground

A rigid dagger ripping through your flesh
I'll burn the blackness pumping in your chest
A curse from hell upon your family's name
For what you've done to me you shall be... Slain

I can feel the hatred in my eyes
Peircing through your soul
Foolish man don't you know
You can never get control
I will crush you, tear you apart
Show you who I really am
Look deep inside yourself and see
You're a lesser man

Get on your knees and pray
You're crumbling away
What would you say
If I said you'll die today
The evil in my vein
It causes so much pain
But if you took my life
What would I gain
