Trivial Greek Mythology

Lemuria

We're trying to balance each other On a hammock in the middle of summer There's medication in your fanny pack Because you're a hypochondriac Historical personalities like Andrew Carnegie And his steel industry Which you found fascinating Now my bed is empty Without Abigal's trivial greek mythology Now my bed is empty Without Abigal's trivial greek mythology You were convinced he had descended from Scottish kings Oh I think you're just the oddest thing You put cinnamon in the vegetable stew And I thought that was silly of you What are you doing with a potato like me Which is exactly why I must leave. You're so perfect it's sickening. Now my bed is empty Without Abigal's trivial greek mythology Now my bed is empty Without Abigal's trivial greek mythology Now my bed is empty Without Abigal's trivial greek mythology
