

Castle Street

Lewis Watson

We said some things we didn't mean
With us there is no in-between
From where we're standing I think that we both know
Maybe we're better off alone

Under the bridge on castle street
We wrote our names in the concrete
But it's so different now when we both know
Maybe we're better off alone

No light, no light, day light gone

We got fire on our tongues
We got no air left in our lungs
And if we're done, then I'll come
I feel love, I feel love

When did our hearts will turn to stone?
And all that's left is skin and bone
And if we're done, then I'll come
I feel love, I feel love, I feel love

Trying to climb these narrow stairs
We stop ourselves from splitting hairs
Maybe it's time that we gave up the ghost
Maybe we're better off alone

No light, no light, daylight gone
No light, no light, to take me home

We got fire on our tongues
We got no air left in our lungs
And if we're done, then I'll come
I feel love, I feel love

When did our hearts will turn to stone?
And all that's left is skin and bone
And if we're done, then I'll come
I feel love, I feel love, I feel love

We got fire on our tongues
We got no air left in our lungs
And if we're done, then I'll come
I feel love, I feel love

We said some things we didn't mean
With us there is no in-between
