

You know it's funny but I cared for you
But now I laugh at what they've done to you
Just stand around and marvel at what you've found
I start to think it's natural
And get used to the idea that everything I care about
Is a game to all the rest
Just stand around and stare at the ground

It's such a kick in the ass
Because I promised to stay happy but I'm not
And now it's getting so ugly
So today I say I'm done
I'm in it for me now
Just stand around and watch what happens next