I've changed my mind,
Things don't really seem so bad this time,
I've learned my lesson though it hurt my pride.

So on we go, Crazy rockin' rollin' rodeo, I need you more now than I did before. Changing my point of view is teaching me something new

Guiding light I need you here tonight,
I'm walking in the dark alone,
Close the door, a thousand years or more,
Until my guiding light comes shining through.

Morning star how you found me wandering near and far, This wounded memory wears like a scar. They all say time will heal, But they don't know how I feel

Guiding light I need you here tonight,
I'm walking in the dark alone,
Close the door, a thousand years or more,
Until my guiding light comes shining through.
Comes shining through, shining through, comes shining through
