

Two Emotions

Little River Band

Don't be afraid to say how you're feelin' tonight
You can go anywhere that you want, it's alright
You're not alone, when you feel that the heartache's real
No, you're not the only one

Two emotions, now at last can be as one
I'll be there for you, every time you can't hold on
Just to hold you, when your life is over-run
Two emotions, are one

It's all right, if you say you got nothin' left to give
I have days when a smile comes hard
I understand your hurt, when you need for more
I have loved (I have loved), and lost (loved and lost), before

Two emotions, now at last can be as one
I'll be there for you, every time you can't hold on
Just to hold you, 'til the night becomes the dawn
Two emotions, are one

So you tell your friends, there's another side to you
And you hope and pray that your fantasies come true
Then the day arrives and the one you want is there
But you realise, you built castles in the air

Two emotions, now at last can be as one
I'll be there for you, every time you can't hold on
Just to hold you, when your life is over-run
Two emotions, are one

Two emotions, now at last can be as one
I'll be there with you, when your heart is on the run
Just to hold you, 'til the night becomes the dawn
Two emotions