

Looking for desert rain in the corners of my mind
Feelin so far away from the source of love divine
Two travelers on the road
Just a book of secrets and trouble on every side
Keep holdin my hand tonight
As we face this furnace something tells me

That we can run from these flames
Or we can stand together in faith

Forever and ever
The darker the night the brighter the dawn
Forever and ever
I'll stay here with you til the end of the storm

Babe look where we've come from
Look what we've been through
Remember the times we were spared
When we didn't know what to do
The enemy's at the door
And here we are again déjà vu

Now we can run from this place
Or we can stand together in faith

Forever and ever
The darker the night the brighter the dawn
Forever and ever
I'll stay here with you til the end of the storm

Troubled times will come
With vengeance and spite in their eyes
But Love's will be done
