

Visions

Lizzy Borden

Innocent eyes, open them wide for me
I'm coming inside to find what I know you can see the whole world is blind, except in your mind
Lying there face down, reluctantly
The fallen shall bow, the hope is here now
I'm fading in timeless intensity

Hear what I say tonight, for the time is right
You must obey tonight, the seeds are right
For the second sight

Turn on the vision

Turn on what only you can see, it's in your mind
Turn on the curse and watch closely, I'm in your line
Turn on the vision

No static, it's clear
My actions speak louder than words
But you mustn't fear
Through my eyes you watch and you learn
The night is so black, I wait to attack
The silence is deafening, not a word
You witness the fear you've seen through your mirror
You psychic, you now wait your turn

Hear what I say tonight, for the time is right
You must obey tonight, the seeds are right
For the second sight

Turn on the vision

Turn on what only you can see, it's in your mind
Turn on the curse and watch closely, I'm in your line
Turn on the vision

Turn on what only you can see, it's in your mind
Turn on the curse and watch closely, I'm in your line
Turn on the vision

Turn on what only you can see, it's in your mind
Turn on the curse and watch closely, I'm in your line