

Mirror Mirror

Love and Theft

Mirror, mirror on the wall, begging you to tell me
If I jump, how far I'll fall, will they even catch me?
How far do they wanna go? I keep wondering what they see
Every time they're looking right at me
Might be nothing, I don't know, the way they touch me makes me think
This could all be more than a dream

I'm hoping I don't wake up
I'm praying I don't come down
I'm hoping that I stay lost
Just riding the clouds
And every star I see
And every you kissing on me
Is like breathing in a dream
Breathing in a dream

Mirror, mirror, on the wall, tell me how I'm doing
I can't wait for them to call so we can keep this moving
Tell me what I need to see, is it right in front of me?
Or am I just chasing a dream?

I'm hoping I don't wake up
I'm praying I don't come down
I'm hoping that I stay lost
Just riding the clouds
And every star I see
And every you kissing on me
Is like breathing in a dream
Is like breathing in a dream

Mirror, mirror, on the wall, will they catch me when I fall?
Mirror, mirror, on the wall, I want us both to see it all

I'm hoping I don't wake up
I'm praying I don't come down
I'm hoping that I stay lost
Just riding the clouds
And every star I see
And every you kissing on me
Is like breathing in a dream
Breathing in a dream
