Amethyst

You hide, you always hide So deep inside the amethyst mine The color bleeds and fades to white What used to be a violent mind

Afraid the things they say They reach and stranger get their way You claim they can't touch you Still you choose to take the edge of the room

Oh time, it pulls out your eyes It makes you choose between two lives So what? You've got that too You're nobody's stupid girl