

Pillow That Whispers

Lynn Anderson

(He's gone no he's gone now)
As dawn meets the darkness a lonely night ends I cry the hurt seems so strong now
My arms just keep reaching where your head used to lay
On the pillow that whispers he's gone now
Echos on down the hall when I talk to the wall it would be easy to lose all control now
Cause here next to me where my baby used to be
Is a pillow that whispers he's gone now

A fool is so lonely and how the tears burn I know I must stop this hurt somehow
I'm so tired of sleeping I've been crying all night
On the pillow that whispers he's gone now
Echos on down the hall...