

Imaginal Cells

Machine Head

We're in a critical phase of human civilization that our survival is really in question

There is generally a feeling that something that there's something happening People have been exposed of course to the whole concept of peak oil, to climate change, to population explosion

The doomsday clock keeps moving closer Religious people are talking about the End Times Present state of disorganization What seems to be happening is that people are beginning to realise

How many of these are real crises or how many of these are crises as a result of limitations of our belief system?
Where civilization's structures become so rigid and it can no longer adapt to the changing situations There's a great increase in mental illness There are signs of when these civilizations come to an end

There's a sense of alienation within the population
A very large increase in violent crime, social disruption Some of the beliefs that we have bought into affect the entire population so And surprisingly an interest in religious cultism
As societies start to begin to disintegrate These weapons of mass distraction which are now falling apart as we're seeing life being exposed time and time again, every day, every week

What they've been distracting us from is our true power, the true nature of human nature Our power to evolve, our power to become cells in the organism called humanity And it's an exciting story of our own power to evolve our own true nature and our own evolutionary destiny Medicine started out as a healing art to help others but over time and in our materialistic world and a world based on corporations, industries that thrive by making money off of sick people

But the environment's changing We are at this very moment in a stage where corporations are teetertottering because they can't maintain themselves anymore They've grown too big and they have too little awareness to maintain this world

And while they're doing their destruction of the planet, a new series

People are coming out of the old just like we talked about The imaginal cells But imaginal cells have a different vision of the world And why this is important for us is because it is a world of relationship

Nobody can get off the bus, we're all in this together We see that we are indeed really approaching a change of civilization
It really is a lesson for us We're in the throes of a new evolution, a new civilization is manifesting Creative minorities arise
The imaginal cells are people that are saying "there's another way to do this"
There's a better brighter image that's much more successful than the one we're doing

They're precursors of the next level of our evolution
The fractal image will repeat itself, it's not a coincidence
We know where we've been, we know we're going And all I have to say is just stay out of the way of the dinosaurs as they crash And allow us to take over this planet and bring in the new ideas that the imaginal cells will offer To support and encourage our survival as a civilization on this planet
