We're gonna make an example of you Way worse than before You should have kept your big mouth shut We were ready to forget and ignore you You've crossed the line again Wishing death upon me and mine Where I'm from we take that as a threat On you'll soon regret Run, hide You can't escape what's coming Run, hide You can't escape what's inevitable You were never hard, you just played the part I'll break your spirit take your heart The bully who can't play in his own backyard That's you Fuck you I'll take that mask that you hide behind Crush your soul, take your pride Maybe you'll learn respect after we break you, Crush you down to the ground You've should have followed your own advice I will hang you by your boots now You wanna talk about the "old school" You're cut off, you lost your privileges Run, hide NYC I'll make you say you love it Run, hide You can't escape what's coming for you

You were never hard, you just played the part I'll break your spirit take your heart The bully who can't play in his own backyard That's you Fuck you Break you Crush you Break your spirit Take your heart Break you Crush you down
