

I Don't Need to Know

Maddie & Tae

I got a text about the dress that she was wearing
That had you staring, last Friday night
Both of you were in that corner booth
Sitting so close, just one shadow in the neon light
Everybody wanna tell me everything you're doing
And shine a light on just how on you're moving

But I don't need to know
I don't need to know
I don't need to know
Who's keeping you company
I don't need to know
I don't need to know
I don't need to know
So why is everybody telling me?
The only thing worse than my imagination
Is all of these third-party observations
I don't need to know
I don't need to know
I don't need to know
Who's keeping you company
I don't need to know, no

A friend of a friend saw you dancing
But you hate dancing, boy, what the hell?
Whatchu trying to prove?
Are you putting on a show for whoever wants to watch?
On second thought

I don't need to know
I don't need to know
I don't need to know
Who's keeping you company
I don't need to know
I don't need to know
I don't need to know
So why is everybody telling me?
The only thing worse than my imagination
Is all of these third-party observations
I don't need to know
I don't need to know
I don't need to know
Who's keeping you company

No, no, no...

What you don't know can't kill ya
So keep it to yourself now, will ya?
What you don't know can't kill ya
So keep it to yourself now, will ya?

'Cause I don't need to know
I don't need to know
I don't need to know
Who's keeping you company
I don't need to know
I don't need to know

I don't need to know
So why is everybody telling me?
The only thing worse than my imagination
Is all of these third-party observations
I don't need to know
I don't need to know
I don't need to know
Who's keeping you company

I don't need to know
I don't need to know
I don't need to know
I don't need to know
