

Dreams At Midnight

Madrugada

No one cares about your dreams at midnight
Twenty hours on a train
Who would dare to follow?
Are you insane?

I've been on this trip since Sunday morning
Now I'm coming down again
Something breaks inside this feeling
It always felt the same

What's wrong?
This feeling!
Something's breaking
Moving you along to the awakening
Oh, and you never even slept

No one cares about your dreams at midnight
They're just talking back at you
About the struggles they have had, how they're hurting too

No one talks about the love and sunshine
When the first rays come creeping in
The songs that blew your mind an hour ago, now they are pointless again

What's wrong?
This feeling!
Something's breaking
Moving you along to the awakening
You break, and you build it up again
You fake!
You will never understand
It's been a long time coming, actually
Did you hear what I said?
You're in over your head
Oh, and you never even slept

What's wrong?
This feeling!
Something's breaking
Moving you along to the awakening

What's wrong?
You had your system shaken
Moving you along to the awakening
Oh, and you never even slept