

Paper Chains

Maggie Rose

Paper chains always break
That's the kind of love you always seemed to me
Promises I thought would last
Fade away like words you wrote on frosted glass
You had me holding on to

Paper chains
So easy to make, so easy to break
You just strung 'em together
Knowing that they never take the way

But you kept me around
A long way to the ground
When you're hanging by
Paper chains

Come unglued
And pull apart just like the faith I had in you
What makes a heart disposable
When did I become a door so closeable?
There's no way to fix these

Paper chains
So easy to make, so easy to break
You just strung 'em together
Knowing that they never take the way

But you kept me around
A long way to the ground
When you're hanging by
Paper chains

Oh, so why can't I let go
Of something that's already broke
Well, it should be easy to break free
'Cause after all they're only

Paper chains
So easy to make, so easy to break
You just strung 'em together
Knowing that they never take the way

But you kept me around
A long way to the ground
When you're hanging by
Paper chains

Paper chains
