

Crackers

Maia Hirasawa

She's been spinning for a little while - But it's not gonna last
Laughing, smiling says there's no way back - At least not to right track

But there's a cracker on the ground - And it will soon explode
There's some fireworks in the sky - And they will soon fade like you

Structure now, but in a little while - She's gonna run back
To the chaos isn't that what we all - Are heading back for
There's a cracker on the ground - And it will soon explode
There's some fireworks in the sky

The crackers are still on ground
But I know they'll soon make a big sound
There'll be a huge show in late December
Though there will be snow I know
That it will show, yeah it will show

And she will tell everyone about - Her spinning
Cause she has taken her stuff and - Just moved in
To this guy, though she hardly knows - His name
Well, she hopes that she is gonna - Feel the same

She will tell him he's the one and only
But in the night she dreams 'bout the dark and the lonely
