

Bury Your Head

Mallory Knox

Declare to the world, that you are who you are
And sing all alone to this music
Deep down inside, smell the stench of your lies
Always take what you have and abuse it

Turn up the song for the boys and the girls
Who have all gathered round to bare witness
But silence remains it's the same everyday
You will not win
You will not win
You will not win

Bury your head
Then you lie to these children
I won't let it end
It's hard to be something I'm not
When your out there somewhere

Bury your head
Then you lie to these children
I won't let it end
It's hard to be something I'm not
When your out there somewhere

If you bury your head
Then you lie to these children
I won't let it end
It's hard to be something I'm not
When your out there somewhere

Bury your head
Then you bury these children
I won't let it end
It's hard to be something I'm not
When your out there somewhere
