

Lighthouse

Mallory Knox

And I'm so tired
Of these buried lies
We spoke about a thousand times
When all your friends stuck by your side
Turning backs and minds
And all this time, you've been stabbing mine
And cut and dry at all my pride
But there's a scar you'll never find
Right behind my eye

You won't sleep tonight
The whistle from the wind will haunt your mind
When they're all out side
Swimming to the shore

I'm the lighthouse in the dark
I'd shine a light on every single soul that weeps
That you've torn
I'm the lighthouse in the dark
Directing all the ships that carry all the broken hearts
That you have torn apart!

And I'll never hide,
I've only ever wanted love to bridge this gap of mine
But I'll never ever seem to reach the other side
So what do you want?!
What do you want from me and need from me,
To make you feel, to make you feel alive?!

No sleep tonight,
A whistle from the wind will haunt your mind
They're all outside
Swimming to the shore!

I'm the light house in the dark
I'd shine a light on every single soul that weeps
That you've torn
I'm the lighthouse in the dark
Directing all the ships that carry all the broken hearts
That you have torn apart!

(I'll find the words in time, that light the way home.. x4)
Find a soul,
Wish I could,
Touch your soul,
Light it up,
See the path - it's time to go!

Find a soul,
Wish I could,
Touch your soul,
Light it up,
See the path - And watch you go!

(I'll find the words in time, that light the way home.. x1)
Find a soul,
Wish I could,

Touch your soul,
Light it up,
See the path...

I'm the light house in the dark
I'd shine a light on every single soul that weeps
That you've torn
I'm the lighthouse in the dark
Directing all the ships that carry all the broken hearts
That you have torn apart!