

The Farmer's Tale Pt. 1 - The Aftermath of Indifference

Manticora

"Sweden, somewhere around Jönköping.
A pig farmer tells me a horrific tale of the brutal assault and rape of his daughter"

One father, one daughter,
both left alone here on earth.
One man with rage in his eyes
takes the job for what it's worth.

No words said,
see the indifference?
Ground blood-red,
no chance of self-defense.

She was fragile and she was pure
to the point of eminence.
This monster took all the beauty from her,
the reason for my decadence.

No words said,
see the indifference?
Ground blood-red,
no chance of self-defense.

I sacrifice all I have left for you,
petrified that this will destroy you too.
Paralyzed by the horrors that you went through,
agonized by the crime no one can undo.

I will search and I will find,
I will kill this pathetic man.
To the hungry pigs he'll be served,
terrible feast, perfect plan.

Feed the pigs,
feel the deliverance.
Bones to twigs,
this is indifference!

The beasts will feast, devour all,
and only his screams will remain.
This sight will haunt you forever,
a nightmare no one can explain.

Feed the pigs,
feel the deliverance.
Bones to twigs,
this is indifference!

I sacrifice all I have left for you,
petrified that this will destroy you too.
Paralyzed by the horrors that you went through,
agonized by the crime no one can undo.

You know this is for you, right?
This is my revenge!

I sacrifice all I have left for you,
petrified that this will destroy you too.
Paralyzed by the horrors that you went through,
agonized by the crime no one can undo.