Cryptorchid

Marilyn Manson

Each time I make my mother cry an angel dies and falls from heaven when the boy is still a worm it's hard to learn the number seven but when they get to you it's the first thing that they do each time I look outside my mother dies, I feel my back is changing shape when the worm consumes the boy it's never considered rape when they get to you Prick your finger it is done... the moon has now eclipsed the sun... the angel has spread its wings...