

Clown

Marion Raven

You're not the man I thought you were
It's such a shame, shame
You're not the man I thought you were
Though I'm still the same

Did you think that I would let myself
Be broken again, broke me again
There's no better way to let me down, my friend

How did we end up here?
When did the clouds appear?

Anywhere the wind blows
Anywhere the snow falls
Any time a day breaks
Comes around to put you down
You can never know when everyone
(Anywhere the wind blows)
(Anywhere the snow falls)
And everything is turned around
Anytime a day breaks
Comes around to put you down
And now you're just anyone's clown

There's a man I thought I loved
What can I say, say?
There was a stranger lying here when I woke today

When did you dissappear?
Behind the mask somewhere

Anywhere the wind blows
Anywhere the snow falls
Any time a day breaks
Comes around to put you down
You can never know when everyone
(Anywhere the wind blows)
(Anywhere the snow falls)
And everything is turned around
Anytime a day breaks
Comes around to put you down
And now you're just anyone's clown

Anywhere the wind blows
Anywhere the snow falls
Any time a day breaks
Comes around to put you down
You can never know when everyone
(Anywhere the wind blows)
(Anywhere the snow falls)
And everything is turned around
Anytime a day breaks
Comes around to put you down
And now you're just anyone's clown
And now you're just anyone's clown
