

Kicks In

Marion Raven

Is it just me or did you feel the electricity when we met?
Did you feel so high thinking you could die?
It's nothing, don't say a word
The complicity of silence
Be a thief in us and a liar
And I'll be yours just for the night

And the adrenaline high kicks in...
And you feel it deep down to your core
And then the bottle of wine kicks in...
And my every glass you want it even more
Remember the love, the name
That the city lures you, steals your sight
When the excited blues kicks in...
By the morning light

One big city...
One big city and I'm alone
But I walk the streets like I own the streets
In this one big city
One big city like I'm a queen
Because nothing's never like it seems
And I wanna play make believe

And the adrenaline high kicks in...
And you feel it deep down to your core
And then the bottle of wine kicks in...
And my every glass you want it even more
Remember the love, the name
That the city lures you, steals your sight
When the excited blues kicks in...
By the morning light

And the adrenaline high kicks in...
Have you ever felt like this before?
And then the bottle of wine kicks in
And my every glass you want it even more
Remember the love, the name
That the city lures you, steals your sight
When the excited blues kicks in
I am yours just for the night

And the adrenaline high kicks in...
And you feel it deep down to your core
And then the bottle of wine kicks in...
And my every glass you want it even more
Remember the love, the name
That the city lures and steals your sight
When the excited blues kicks in...
By the morning light
