

Running

Marion Raven

A better woman than me would leave it alone
A better woman than me would know her timing
Can't go on enduring all this silence
A better woman than me would surely know
A better woman than me would take it slow

I'm running, I'm running
And it seems like I'm never gonna leave this place
Feels like I'm always on a hopeless chase
I'm running, I'm running
And I can't get away from the memories
I can't get away from the way it feels
I'm running but getting nowhere
Maybe you can meet me there

A better day than today could make it all up
On a different day than today I'll be burning bridges
I'll be running red lights 'till tomorrow
A better day than today I'll make it all mine
A better day than today and it's about time

I'm running, I'm running
And it seems like I'm never gonna leave this place
Feels like I'm always on a hopeless chase
I'm running, I'm running
And I can't get away from the memories
I can't get away from the way it feels
I'm running but getting nowhere
Maybe you can meet me there

Maybe you can meet me there
Solitude I just can't bare
If I took a chance to tell
Everything you know so well
Will you meet me halfway down?
What if you don't come around?
This is I can't afford
So I'm chasing lonely road

I'm running, I'm running
And it seems like I'm never gonna leave this place
Feels like I'm always on a hopeless chase
I'm running, I'm running
And I can't get away from the memories
I can't get away from the way it feels
I'm running but getting nowhere
Maybe you can meet me there
