Kiwi

Maroon 5

You're such a flirt, I know you hurt And so do I, I empathize I see you out, you never cared A conversation that we never shared

But it's so strange, it's something new Amazing feelings that I have for you I close my eyes when I'm alone Wonder what it'd be like to make you moan

I wanna give you something better Than anything you've ever had A stronger and a faster lover The world, it disappears so fast

Sweet kiwi Your juices dripping down my chin So please, let me Don't stop it before it begins

So give it up, and don't pretend And spread your arms and legs across the bed And when you shake, you won't regret The things I whisper in your ear (What?) I said:

I wanna give you something better (You wanna give me something better) Than anything you've ever had (Than anything I've ever had) A stronger and a faster lover (A stronger and a faster lover) The world, it disappears so fast (It disappears so fast)

Sweet kiwi Your juices dripping down my chin So please, let me Don't stop it before it begins

I can't wait to take you home Fingers through your hair Kisses on your back Scratch me with your nails

Save me from myself Show me how to care Get everything out Dripping everywhere Lipstick smeared all over your face How much longer must we wait? Don't think that I can wait

Sweet kiwi Your juices dripping down my chin So please, let me Don't stop it before it begins (hey, yeh) Sweet kiwi (wanna give you something better than this) Your juices dripping down my chin (hey, yeh) So please, let me (wanna give you something better than this) Don't stop it before it begins

Don't stop it before it begins Don't stop it before it begins Don't stop it before it begins Don't stop it before it begins