

Maybe I Should Run

Martine McCutcheon

I know that I can't sleep at all tonight
Got the devil speaking every line
And then I start crying trying to soothe my mind
I know that I can't live feeling like this
With nothing left I don't know what to fix
Maybe it's too late now trying to change your mind

Going in circles round my head
Should I fight or let this end

Maybe I should run, maybe I should run
Maybe I should just lay down my gun
Instead of waiting for a miracle I'll say goodbye
Maybe I should run, maybe I should run
Maybe after all I've finally done
Maybe I should stop trying so damn hard to change your mind
Maybe I should just run

I felt you break down every part of me
I fought so hard that you'd never see
That I'd lost my hope and all my dignity

Going in circles round my head
Should I fight or let this end

Maybe I should run, maybe I should run
Maybe I should just lay down my gun
Instead of waiting for a miracle I'll say goodbye
Maybe I should run, maybe I should run
Maybe after all I've finally done
Maybe I should stop trying so damn hard to change your mind
Maybe I should just change mine

Maybe I should run, maybe I should run
Maybe I should just lay down my gun
Instead of waiting for a miracle I'll say goodbye
Maybe I should run, maybe I should run
Maybe after all I've finally done
Maybe I should stop trying so damn hard to change your mind
Maybe I should just change mine
