

Brown Eyes and Me

Mary Hopkin

Brown eyes and me
We're bound to last forever
We've been through some bad times but they're over now
Brown eyes and me
We'll fight the world together
Our love is growing and we've come out even closer now

Lady, you better know it
You never really had him for a moment
And no matter how hard you try
You'll never get in between my brown eyes and me

Oh, you love your man
You'd give the world to please him
He treats you so bad and then he leaves you alone
You don't understand
Why it is you cannot hold him
You can't believe how far apart you've grown

You gotta make up your mind
To leave him now or learn to live with this pain
And whatever you may decide
You better pray for the strength to start over again

And now he's home
Begging for your love again
But you wanna run, don't know which way to turn
He cries in shame
And you're ready to forgive him
Forget the past, well don't you live and you learn

Now, you made up your mind
You'll never leave him now
Though he'll drive you insane
And you're gonna search deep inside
To find the strength that you need
To start over again

Brown eyes and me
We're bound to last forever
We've had some bad times but they're over now
Brown eyes and me
We'll fight the world together
Our love is growing and we've come out even closer now

Lady, you better know it
You never really had him for a moment
And no matter how hard you try
You'll never get in between my brown eyes and me
No, no matter how hard you try
You'll never get in between my brown eyes and me

No...
