

It's all right cause tonight
There's a feather falling on my street
There's a glow of the lights
Giving me hope that you'll be by my side

To look behind your eyes
To hear the things that no one knows
To see beyond the noise
To feel the moon
At least to try

In the fields through the dawn
There's a town that still holds my arm
In the dusk of memories
There's a road I wanna take you down

To look behind your eyes
To hear the things that no one knows
To see beyond the noise
To feel the moon
At least to try

This place has changed
There's not much pain
There's not a door
That leads up to this place

Some have moved
Some have passed
So when you see it
You will know at last

And look behind my eyes
To hear the things that no one knows
To see beyond the noise
To feel the moon
At least to try

At least to try