

Windy Smile

Matt Costa

You look so lost in the tremors of your mind
In the spasms of your life, rolling in like thunder
These was in the day, and promises felt like summer rain
You reveled in your southern way, now you're boiling over

Now you're wild as electric wires
Glass teeth and a windy smile