

Tender Caress

Memoria

Come hold me, touch me softly
Caress me and forgive if
Whatever worries confuse you

When dusk seems overwhelming
And doubts are creeping slowly
Do not ever let them convert you

Time might put its spell on you
Though the candlelit room's bright
And we shall walk out soon
To meet the morning dawn

The chains of faith hold tight
All hope within your mind
When shivering and tired

Twilight is staining your eyes
In spectre of a sunrise
That has crushed the doubt and invites you

To grow your sweet devotion
No fear, no superstition
Just love and trust to embrace you

Claws of time will not grasp
The love within your heart
The endless love remains
Frankly shared

No matter how dark
Are demons of your doubt
They will never blacken the light
Of pure love

Claws of doubt
Cannot grasp the love
Sense the warm
Endlessly caring heart
That will stay

Whatever dark
May try to gnash the brightest mind
It will never weaken or hush
Untamed love

Time might put its spell on you
Though the candlelit room's bright
And we shall walk out soon
