Down by the Sea

Men at Work

Down by the sea I found your hidden treasure Just you and me, We overdosed on pleasure

Yonnies in the wind, We're ruggin' up for winter Putting out the bins In cold and windy weather

Down by the docks Live all the silent sea-ships Crates are stored on blocks Where now only the rats live

Sail me down the river Till we reach the shore Diving into the center Eating out the core

Down on the beach Saluting Captain Benbow Always out of reach It's quiet when the tide's low

Climbing up the cliffs You can see for miles far The boat that ran adrift Is sitting on the sandbar

Laughing at the waves That storm the river mouth The ice is on the move now Creeping north and south

Down by the sea I found your hidden treasure Just you and me We over-dosed on pleasure

Listen to your heart Screamin' at the sky Can't you feel it tremble? Don't you wonder why?
