

Resurrecting Hope

Mendeed

Another kiss goodbye,
another sorrowed eye,
another victim of the game,
do what you can to make it seem alright.

Kiss my ass, don't look back,
you are lost, you are last,
you are living a lie.
Do our eyes deceive our minds
in the search for light?

Fuck you.

Keep your self righteous life
and watch me grow.

Within the sequence of your mind
the programme stops the progress
this is another reason
to follow my heart.
You forced me to follow generic blueprints
but I still live inside my dreams.

As you hold me down,
this is time to fight your grip.
Without your misdirection
my life won't end in heartache
fight for my generations birthright to be amazed.

You've told me my passion
is just a waste of time.
[I] won't live my life by your rules.
Gouge out my eyes [and] as the blood
drips from the sockets
finally it's clear;

vision comes from the mind inside,
the soul and the heart that binds
the spirit and will for life.
Signs surface everyday, the soul
and the heart will show us [that] sadness can be defied.

Reason calling out my name,
[I'm] trying to escape from it.
Reason denies the faith in me.
Prepare to fall my hands are cleansed your on your own,
you've had your time you can't deny it.

You fall from grace,
if time could speak would you believe?
Or would you still be fucking blind?
Your doubts won't cast shadows across my memories.
You cannot take my memories.