Mew

I wanted to remember my Mica?
You helped me again to think of the Unthinkable things
Made my arms hurt so bad I would
Happily forget
You're surprised at what you go through
As if no one ever told you
On your own feet
Your own feet stand
Not to wallow in heartache

I've done more than I would like to But it's not all that I can do You gotta get out of bed, into it

When even your bad luck runs out Not to wallow in Self-pitying pathetic dreams You know what I mean

She worked hard to be his novice And then broke into his office With her clothes off Her clothes off still Not to wallow in heartache

Amor, settle for a small dart

If you can't find it in your heart

But there's a big noise from her chest

Let me do the talking
Now that I'm here
You'll steal all the attention anyway

Cause something about you Compels me to feel That a glued together vase Is still a vase

Not to wallow in heartache
