

So they went to their car
I was lost in the crowd when I
Tried to find my way
Nothing else seemed to matter back then
Soft encounter
You amplify my emotion
No devotion
May sound wrong but is sounder

And I know you have nothing to say
When you look like you did then
There's no point in playing along
Is there now?

So they went to their car
I was lost in the crowd when I
Tried to find my way
Nothing else seemed to matter back then

Last encounter
A goodbye kiss from an old friend
Can't stay long now
My train is headed for somewhere else

When you're gone I envy the people you're with Cause they're with you
Nothing's wrong
I've just been here too long to pretend

Feeling so small
You stretch out beyond me
There comes a time when all I'm feeling
Everything belongs to you
I was counting on you then
Close your eyes and think of when

So they gazed at the stars
And he told her his real name
Said it wasn't far
