A Walk In The Rain

Michael Franks

I lived in a painting by Renoir
Dined late in those sidewalk cafes
But lately I seem to be more inclined
For a walk in the rain

I dance to Grappelli and Django Saw candlelight through beaujolais But lately I seem to be more inclined For a walk in the rain

We laughed at the weather
Out walking without umbrellas
How well I remember
You face when we walked in the rain

You know I was crazy about you Some sadness caused me to unwind maybe I will meet you (if fate is kind) On a walk in the rain
