

A Song Is Just a Moment

Michael Kiske

A song is just a moment that might never come back
A song is just a feeling that sometimes I regret
When in that magic moment a melody is born
Some other moments later it may bother like thorn

Because I've got to live my life like everyone must do
I don't regret a single feeling I had to walk through

Life is a thing to get to know ourselves
And you're a king when clear hear those bells
It's clear, so clear I see!

I wright down my emotions to see what's up inside
I walk across this bridge called life and found a place to hide who ever you may talk to, the sky will still br blue!
What ever you may talk 'bout me, it shows what's inside 'o you

If there's a truth, it stays the truth, whatever mankind does
I just decicted silently: I do believe in love

Life is a thing to get to know ourselves
And you're a king when clear hear those bells
It's clear, so clear when you see!

Things are comming, things are going, who'll make the score?
I feel that I'm not scared as much I was yeas before!

My mind is a thing that hanges colours fast
What times ever brings, we know it never lasts
Who knows? Maybe God? Maybe God!
