

Angelsong

Michelle Darkness

Days pass, light fade away Sad skies, the whole world will sleep
Rain falls, time slips away I come home while you're suffering

I scream with an open heart And show you how the things will start
It seems like your last way down A poem like a promised love
I sing you a lullaby If you forever leave this planet I hold your hand Before you walk along with strangers

Days pass, someone will leave Pale skies, the fall's turning leaves
Rain falls, time slips away I come home while you're suffering

And the angels will sing My lullaby right now You're not alone
You found your new home Right now