

I'm to Blame

Mickey Gilley

Have you told your new friend about me
I'll bet you never never speak my name
I close my eyes and see you with some stranger
Oh, how it hurts me 'cause I know I'm to blame

Sweet memories of you come back to haunt me
That's why my life can never be the same
With a broken heart I'm sending you best wishes
And oh how it hurts me 'cause I know I'm to blame

There's no room for me in this old world without you

And in silence now I hang my head shame
You were once mine and you may tell your stranger
And oh how it hurts me 'cause I know I'm to blame

Goodbye so long my will to live left with you
I must go now I think I hear my train
With me I take my memory and your picture
And oh how it hurts me 'cause I know I'm to blame

Oh, how it hurts me 'cause I know I'm to blame
